Testimonials

As a procurement specialist for over 20 years, I believe this to be an excellent on-line training programme which is suitable for both managers / owners of firms who wish to learn how to tender for contracts and individuals who wish to improve their management skills or change careers. (Osama El-Kadi, Former Chief Procurement Officer, Centrica Plc.)

The course is very comprehensive in the coverage of the information small businesses need when applying for public procurement contracts. It is well presented, accurate and special importance has been given to the package design. (Small Business Service)

Summary:

Lloyd Sewell (Director of Tendering for Contracts Training Ltd) identified the crucially important need for the effective training of individuals and firms who wish to become suppliers to public sector agencies. He developed and successfully delivered a series of workshops. Programme refinement led to endorsement by SFEDI in 2004 and qualification for an Innovation Grant from the DTI in 2005, which led to acceptance for external accreditation by ITOL.
